DIRECTIVE CALLS FOR INCREASED PROPAGANDA ACTIVITY

The following directive to implement propaganda work was recently promulgated by the Propaganda Section of the Central and South China Bureau of the CCP Central Committee:

1. Military Victories

To gain the support of the populace, the military victories of the People's Liberation Army must be played up. The people must be taught that military activities are only the preliminary steps to economic reconstruction, and it is only through their cooperation with the military government that we will be able to achieve our final victory.

2. Sino-Soviet Relationships

Everyone must be made to realize the importance of the new Sino-Soviet relationships. It must be emphasized that internationalism, and not nationalism, must be our future policy. That is, it must be recognized that through the aid of the USSR, China will be able to overcome all economic difficulties, and defeat the KMT reactionaries.

Program for 1950

The 1950 program, as planned and published by the South and Central China Military and Political Commission, must be propagandized to encourage the people to work toward the fulfillment of our future tasks.

4. Natural Calamities

It must be emphasized to the people in the rural areas that the present calamities, such as floods and famines, were the results of past KMT corruption, graft, and inefficiency. To overcome these difficulties, the farmers must be made to realize that the trained cadres are in the fields to aid them in planning spring cultivation, organizing against the KMT remnants, etc.

5. Finance

It must be impressed on all citizens that the economic stability of a nation depends on her financial stability. For the present, credits must be readjusted through taxation, collection of public grains, and continued bond purchases, while debits must be reduced through the cancellation of unnecessary projects and extravagances.

6. Industrial Production

In urban areas, la rers must be awakened to the fact that they are the masters of industry and that it is within their power to increase production. Since labor is represented in management and policy-making activities in state-operated enterprises, laborers must be taught to take responsibility, not only as producers but also as proprietors. In private enterprises, the capitalists must be taught to plan for the best interests of the public, while both labor and capital must learn to work for the best interest of the nation.

7. Land Reform

The land-reform achievement in Honan should be used as an example to educate people on this subject. Cadres, who are well-trained in land-reform methods, must encourage the landowners to relinquish their excess lands and to engage in actual farming. It must also be stressed that the land-reform program for the Central and South China region must be completed by the spring of 1951.

8. People's Delegates Conference

Since the people's delegates conferences on all levels will be held in the near future, it must be instilled in each citizen that it is his duty to acquaint himself with all pertinent regulations governing these conferences.

9. Trained Officials and Cadres

The people must be taught to cooperate with the officials and cadres sent to their areas to help them in their work. They must be impressed with the fact that these cadres are thoroughly trained and are being sent to aid them in rehabilitation work.
